Designed for Large-Scale Industrial Buyers

This supply opportunity is particularly suitable for established companies and organizations requiring substantial and consistent volumes of diesel.

Our target markets include:

- Petroleum Importers: Companies importing diesel for domestic and international markets.
- Fuel Distribution Companies: National and regional distributors supplying commercial and industrial customers.

- Manufacturing Industries: Large-scale manufacturers requiring reliable diesel supplies for production facilities and industrial operations.
- Mining and Natural Resources: Mining companies and operators with significant fuel consumption requirements.
- Power Generation Companies: Independent power producers and energy operators relying on diesel for electricity generation.
- Infrastructure and Construction: Major infrastructure developers, contractors, and construction companies.
- Energy and Trading Companies: Established organizations managing large-volume petroleum procurement and distribution programs.

Significant Monthly Supply Capacity

With a minimum monthly requirement of 500,000 MT, this offer is intended for serious institutional and commercial buyers capable of handling substantial petroleum procurement programs.

The proposed CIF delivery arrangement allows buyers to nominate their preferred main destination seaport worldwide, subject to shipping feasibility, port acceptance, and final contractual agreement.

This provides an opportunity for qualified buyers to develop a regular supply relationship while securing the volumes required to support their industrial and commercial activities.

Competitive International Commercial Offer

Indicative CIF Price: USD 690 per MT

Minimum Monthly Quantity: 500,000 MT

The commercial offer is structured around large-volume transactions, with payment supported by a transferable Standby Letter of Credit (SBLC MT760), transmitted through authenticated bank-to-bank SWIFT communication.

Final payment is made through SWIFT MT103 at the destination/discharge port, within the agreed contractual timeframe and subject to the required shipping documentation.

All commercial, banking, delivery, and documentary arrangements will be mutually agreed upon with qualified buyers.
